

---

Travel Journal Android App The project uses Java and Google Firebase to let the user save trips and vacations. It features email/password and Google authentication and implements adding, showing and deleting trips with a destination, a rating and a photo. It helped me go through various programming concepts, such as interacting with an API, CRUD operations on a database and the overall process of developing an app.

